

WHY CHOOSE SANDHURST?

| Accountability

We really strive to live by our values with accountability at the top of our list. Accountability is everything to us – if we say we will do something by a certain time – then you can count on us doing just that.

| Client Focused

We want to provide what is best for the client – not what's easiest for us. We will not ask you to fill out standard templates that do not work for you. We see it as a true partnership to provide exactly the product you require.

| Trust

We believe trust is the bedrock of any relationship. We provide clear and transparent estimates with no hidden extras or dubious change orders.

| Experience & Depth

All our facilitators have hands on real experience rather than just academic theory. The best facilitators are those who have done it themselves. We also make every effort to stay relevant and current by continuing to deploy to real incidents whenever possible.

| Innovation

We are proud to be hands-on problem solvers and are constantly looking for new and more efficient ways of doing things. Our quick adoption of virtual training and exercises as well as other response tools has made us an industry leader in these areas.

| Realistic Training

Exercises and training courses are more than just ticking the regulatory box to us. They are a way to bring the plans to life and prepare future responders for any eventuality by providing the most realistic training possible.

“ Sandhurst really opened our eyes to how much extra benefit can be squeezed out of a tabletop exercise. ”

“ It is the quality and experience of the facilitators at Sandhurst that really sets them apart. ”

PROGRAM DEVELOPMENT

Whether you're building a new fire & life safety plan or enhancing an existing one, Sandhurst brings the experience, structure, and insight to help protect your people and property.

Our program development services for commercial properties include:

- Assessing your building's layout, life safety systems, and occupancy to tailor training needs.
- Defining clear roles for property management, operations teams, tenant wardens, and occupants.
- Establishing Key Performance Indicators to measure engagement and readiness.
- Developing concise, role-specific materials tied to your facility's systems and risks.
- Designing on-site or virtual, scalable instructor-led training.
- Scheduling drills and exercises that reinforce knowledge and improve response.

PLANNING

Planning turns training into action. Sandhurst works with commercial property teams to develop fire and life safety procedures that are practical, role-specific, and grounded in real building conditions.

Our planning services include:

- Enhancing fire safety plans based on layout, tenant mix, and building operations.
- Mapping evacuation routes, muster points, system zones, and safety features.
- Defining clear responsibilities for property managers, operations staff, wardens, and occupants.
- Aligning planning documents with training to improve clarity and confidence.

This approach ensures your team understands the plan, knows how to follow it, and why it matters, so they're ready to act when it counts.

TRAINING & EXERCISES

Training is where your plan becomes second nature. Sandhurst delivers focused, professional instruction tailored to the needs of your commercial property team.

Our training and exercise services include:

- On-site or virtual instructor-led sessions for property managers, operations staff, wardens, and occupants.
- Fire drills and walkthroughs simulating real scenarios in a safe and structured way.
- Tabletop exercises testing alarm response, evacuation flow, and communication.
- Post exercise debriefs with clear, actionable feedback.

Every session is tailored to your site and staff, building the confidence to respond effectively when it matters most.
